Everywhere I Go You Are There

"Everywhere I Go You Are There" is an accumulation of ideas inspired by my dirt road adventures through the Blue Mountains, Central Tablelands and the Riverina.

The works explore romance, the beauty of the landscape and the notion of what it means to be free.

I find myself daydreaming as I stare into expansive skies and watch the passage of clouds all around me. I wonder where the clouds have come from and what their story is. Have they nurtured the land with rain, created a shadow to give shelter from the sun or did I just see a dragon breathing fire float by?

"The sky and the sun are always there. It's the clouds that come and go." Rachel Joyce
